Emory 21 Days of Peace organizers acknowledge the overlap of some of the event dates and the Jewish holidays. Emory University is a community that thrives because of its diversity. Our commitment to living beyond diversity, and to the ideals of pluralism, sometimes means that significant occasions for different groups will coincide. We would like to offer our full support to the Jewish community and wish our Jewish friends and neighbors L'Shanah Tovah Tikateivu - blessings for a good and sweet new year. We offer our support and commitment to the diversity of this university and to the Jewish community by showing our thanks for the understanding they have expressed in our dialogue and continued efforts to build a nurturing college experience for all religious traditions on campus.
