Join film director, Adam Mazo, and Rwandan genocide survivor, Claude Gatebuke, for a screening of the short documentary, Coexist.

Coexist examines the legacy of catastrophic “othering” that led to the 1994 genocide in Rwanda, and the unprecedented mandated reconciliation efforts happening now in the small East African nation. The film chronicles the experiences and perspectives of victims, perpetrators, and survivors of genocide in Rwanda, and the challenges Rwandans face as they try to end the cycle of violence that has caused them catastrophic loss and incalculable suffering.

www.coexistdocumentary.org

Thursday, March 28 • 6:30pm • PAIS 290, Emory University

*This event coincides with Emory University’s Social Justice Week.

Please RSVP to stephanie.stawicki@emory.edu or 404-727-6951.