Gender Against Men exposes the hidden world of sexual and gender-based violence against men in the conflicts of the African Great Lakes Region. The film demonstrates how male identities are under attack and how rape when used as a weapon of war affects husbands, fathers, brothers and the community.

Panelists

Pamela Scully, Director, Center for Faculty Development and Excellence; Professor of Women’s, Gender, and Sexualities Studies and African Studies
Professor Scully studies sexual violence and transitional justice and is writing a short biography of Ellen Johnson Sirleaf for Ohio University Press. She teaches courses on sexual violence, feminist theory, and post-conflict societies.

Ulester Douglas, Executive Director, Men Stopping Violence
Ulester Douglas is interim executive director of Men Stopping Violence (MSV), a nationally acclaimed social justice organization dedicated to ending male violence against women. He is a National Institute of Mental Health Fellow and a psychotherapist specialized in working with families affected by child sexual abuse and intimate partner violence. Ulester has provided consultation, training and keynote addresses in forty states and the Caribbean.