the Prospects for Peace in Sudan and South Sudan series

Thursday, March 20 7pm Peace Pavilion Rotunda, The Carter Center

Panelists

Ms. Nagwa Gadaheldam served as an industrial development officer at the United Nations Industrial Development Organization for more than 10 years, working on programs on poverty reduction and climate change as well as developing partnerships with international institutions.

Dr. Aris P. Georgakakos is currently a professor at the School of Civil and Environmental Engineering at Georgia Tech, Head of the Environmental Fluid Mechanics and Water Resources Program, and Director of the Georgia Water Resources Institute. Georgakakos’ research and technology transfer activities aim to develop and implement new approaches for integrated water resources assessment, development, and management.

Moderator

Mr. Itonde Kakoma is the assistant director of the Conflict Resolution Program at The Carter Center, managing the Center’s peace initiatives in Sudan and South Sudan. His current efforts are focused on the Sudan-South Sudan Dialogue Group, a track-two diplomatic effort in partnership with the Ebony Centre (Juba) and Future Studies Institute (Khartoum). Previously, he worked on the Center’s peace initiatives in Liberia, where he was a report writer for the Liberian Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

Kindly RSVP to stephanie.stawicki@emory.edu or 404.727.6951.